TWO MEN PLEAD GUILTY IN PERJURY AND CONTEMPT CASE

Two men who were found in contempt of Court for refusing to testify during the Willie Clark trial earlier this year have pleaded guilty today.

Kataina “Markie” Jackson-Keeling (dob: 07-01-88) and Mario Anderson (dob: 06-02-87) pleaded guilty to accessory to perjury (F5), and as part of a guilty plea agreement admitted they were in direct contempt of the Court in the March 2010 Clark trial.

Both had been charged in 2009 with two counts of perjury (F4) and one count of attempt to influence a public servant (F4). They were accused of lying to a Denver Grand Jury that was looking into the murder of Denver Broncos player Darrent Williams.

Both defendants remain out on bond and will be sentenced to jail on June 7, 2010 in Denver District Court.
