FORMER SCHOOL WORKER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHILD ABUSE

A former school secretary accused of taping a student's hands together and placing tape over his mouth pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor child abuse charge and was given a deferred judgment sentence today.

Jennifer Carter (dob: 01/15/64) pleaded guilty today to misdemeanor child abuse (M2). In exchange for her guilty plea, a count of false imprisonment (M2) was dismissed. She was sentenced to an 18-month deferred judgment sentence with court-supervised probation.

Carter was accused of taping the student's hands and mouth together after he became unruly at Palmer Elementary School last October.
