MAN CHARGED WITH SEXUAL ASSAULT – OTHER VICTIMS FEARED

Denver District Attorney Mitch Morrissey has formally charged a man with sexual assault and kidnapping, in a case that has investigators concerned there could be other victims.

Chad Yancey (dob: 02-17-81) was charged earlier in January with sexual assault (F3), second-degree kidnapping (F2), and menacing (F5).

The charges allege that Yancey, who was staying at the victim's home, assaulted a thirteen-year-old girl as she was doing laundry in the basement. The charges further allege that Yancey then threatened the victim's brother with a knife as he chased Yancey out of the house and down the street, where Denver police officers confronted and arrested him.

Yancey remains in custody in the Denver County Jail; his bond is set at $150,000. He is scheduled to appear March 16, 2010, in Denver County Courtroom 472W at 8:30 a.m. for a preliminary hearing.

Investigators believe there could be additional victims and are interested in talking with anyone with information. They should call Investigator Jeff Watts at 720-913-9168.
